One Youth Sentenced, One Freed

A 21-year-old Los Angeles man has been sentenced to 15 days on each of two counts of illegal use of a credit card in South Bay Municipal Court. Charges against a second person have been dropped.

David W. Brenenstahl, arrested with a second suspect on suspicion of robbery and petty theft April 3, pleaded guilty to two counts of illegal use of a credit card.

Brenenstahl was sentenced to 15 days on each count and ordered to serve the sentence at the Torrance Police Department.

Charges against the second suspect, John Doran, later identified as John Adams, 19, of 2311 Vanderbilt Lane, Redondo Beach, have been dropped.

The two men were arrested in a local department store when Brenenstahl attempted to use a credit card which police said belonged to in Inglewood woman.

L. E. Jenkins, district manager, said the $1 million-plus figure includes franchise, business license, and ad valorem taxes.

Of the $893,657 total for property taxes, $22,397 went to the city and $485,548 was paid for local schools. Another $285,710 benefits the city in the form of "other county and special district taxes," Jenkins said.
